

Saul A. Silverman 2021 Award for Conflict Resolution and Healing
Nomination form and information on the award applicant

Deadline for submission: 1st June 2021

If you are nominating yourself, please complete the entire form.

If you are nominating someone else, please complete items 1, 2 and 3, and ask the applicant to complete item 4 and sign acceptance of their nomination for the award.

1. Details of the nominator (if different from the applicant):
 - a. Name:
 - b. Email:
 - c. Mobile phone:
 - d. Country:

2. Details of the award applicant:
 - a. Full name:
 - b. Applicant email:
 - c. Mobile phone:
 - d. Applicant country:

3. Please write a brief motivation for why the applicant fits the criteria for the award, which include:
 - Previously unrecognized practitioners.
 - People who have been on the 'front lines' of assisting individuals, communities or nations to move forward in their healing processes.
 - Work that has the potential to be replicated or extended.
 - How the work advances theory and practice of conflict resolution in ways that include organization development principles and values.
 - How the work enhances human dignity and rational dialogue.
 - Advancements in the field of organization development and conflict resolution through new and innovative theory and practice.

4. To be completed by the applicant: Please share some more detail about the nature of the your work, covering areas such as:

- What are the unique aspects of the work being done in the field of conflict resolution and healing?
- What is the context or background to this work?
- At what level is the intervention aimed? (e.g. interpersonal, organisational, societal)?
- What innovative approaches or tools being used?
- What impact are they having?
- How transferable are the knowledge and skills?

Signature of nominee if relevant:

Signature of applicant:

Please email the completed form and any supporting information to marc@sii-inc.net. Supporting information can include an article, short video, photos, presentation, interview, letter of support from community or client group.